

With a little help from my friends

Scituate Volunteers Kerry Lee, 15, and Leah Jernberg, 14, support Abby Chandran, 13, of North Attleboro, as she rides around the track at Scituate High School. [WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTO/ALYSSA STONE]

Learning they can bike

I CAN BIKE holds event in Scituate on Aug. 15

I Can Bike provides adaptive roller bikes for campers to learn how to ride. Campers begin on rollers of a large size and work their way to smaller rollers and eventually to a conventional bicycle with a training handle on the back. [WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTO/ALYSSA STONE]

Anthony Pedro, 10, of Pembroke smiles as he rides around the track with I Can Bike's Kaitlyn Schmidt. [WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTO/ALYSSA STONE]

Cameron Shah, 9, of Duxbury rides around the Scituate High School gym. [WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTO/ALYSSA STONE]

I Can Bike's Kaitlyn Schmidt gives the thumbs up as Sean Coleman, 12, of Plymouth rides a bike outside without assistance for the first time. [WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTO/ALYSSA STONE]

Sean Denapoli, 12, of Hingham confidently rides independently around the track. [WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTO/ALYSSA STONE]