

Getting on CORSE at camp

Renee Remsbreg touches a box constrictor being held by Polly Pfau of Rainforest Reptile Show at summer camp sponsored by Scituate Recreation and Scituate Community of Resources for Special Education (CORSE) at Scituate High School Monday.

REPTILE SHOW

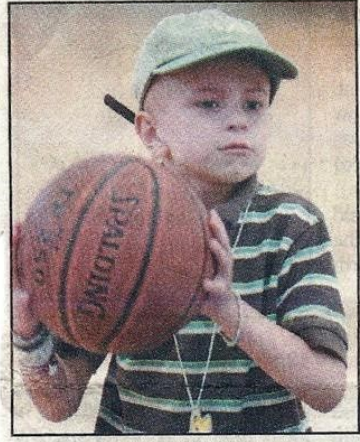

Polly Pfau of Rainforest Reptile Show explains how alligators lose their teeth during summer camp sponsored by Scituate Recreation and Scituate Community of Resources for Special Education (CORSE) at Scituate High School Monday. For photos, see page 4.

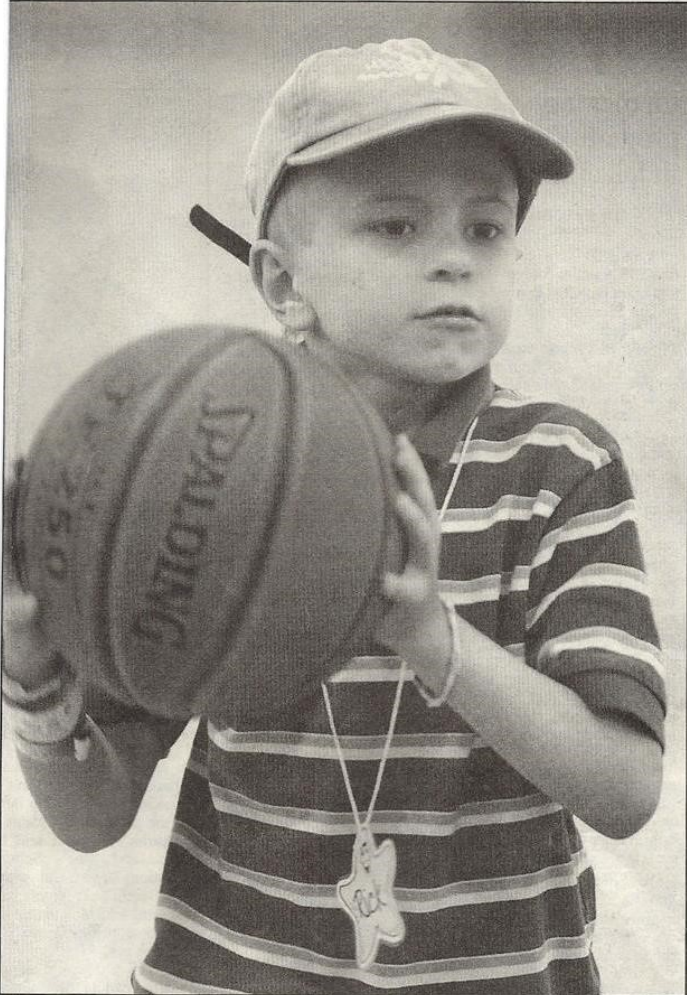

Janice Doherty talks with Allie Crimmins, 9, during a basketball clinic.

Getting on CORSE at summer camp

► SEE PAGE 4

Rick Hoffman, 9, dribbles up the court.

Five-year-old Jack Poirier helps his father Matt, the Scituate boys basketball varsity coach, show the other youths how to do foot fires.

Staff photos by Chris Shores

Aurora Avalone looks to the basket. Scituate varsity boys basketball coach Matt Poirier put the campers through drills similar to the high school team.